One thing you will learn fast enough in the world, for it is potent n such teaching-that is, to be suspicious. Oh! cast from you forever the hateful lesson. Men do not think how much of true innocence they are laying down, when they assume a elothing whose texture is guile. Beware of this mock protection; for you can hardly use it without practicing decoit. I do not ask you to trust al-ways, but I would have you think which Burses and Cattle are prestaposed, has erwise. hood, trust that person no more. I had once laid down to me as an axiom by a very dear friend (and I am so satisfied of the precept's truth as to make it a rule of my life), that persons rarely suspect others except of things which they are capable of doing themselves. Yes! these shadows of doubting are generally flung from some bad realities within. You are looking at your own image when you see so much vileness in your neighbor's face. How much better might not we ourselves become, if we used more larguly to others that blessed charity which thinketh no evil ! "I'm not donying that women are foolish," said Mrs. Poser; "God made 'em to match the men."
